

Annotation

The internship was held at OJSC Meridian. SP Korolev is a modern multidisciplinary enterprise specializing in development and mass production. The basic aspects of the design and construction of elements of multilevel structures were reviewed. A considerable amount of literature on accelerometers and types of protection of moving parts of the accelerometer has been analyzed. Anemometer calculations were carried out with an icing protection system.